

I am deeply distressed at Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to make their stations air an anti-Kerry documentary just before the presidential election.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and in return is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Nevertheless, it's plans to serve one party's agenda at the expense of another's, and to do so not in a single market, but across the nation, is not in the best interest of America. We need more local control of news.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
